MEETING OF THE GENERAL COUNCIL.—The ses sions of the Board of Aldermen and Common Council last evening were of more than usual importance

In the Board of Aldermen a resolution was intro duced by Alderman Shotwell relative to the right of cer members to their seats. The Mayor's interce was declared gratuitous and the Board declined to consider the matter. This resolution was passed unanimously. The Mayor returned the resolution renewing the notes of the city for $6,000 to the Water Company, with his objections. The resolution was discussed and passed by the Common Council, with but one dissenting vote. The Board of Aldermen took the same position, unanimously, The question of electing city printer occurred, and in the Common Council was referred to a special committee, with instructions to report in favor of two printers. An election for Railroad Tax Collector in the Eastern District was ordered for May 3d.

The ordinance referring to the organization of the Fire Department, with one Chief Engineer and two Assistants, was fixed for consideration at the adjourned meeting to-night.

GOATS AMONG NEWSPAPERS. - A new class of literary thieves have been discovered in the Sev enth ward, Philadelphia. It appears that the citizens of that ward have had much cause of complaint on account of their morning papers having been carried off by some unknown depredators. The other morning early, the police caught the thieving gentry in the act. A party of long-bearded goats went from door to door, pulling down the fresh sheets from knobs and bell-pulls. Some of the thieves were state literary cormorants that they commenced devouring their plunder in the street. The police gave chase to the rascals, but the latter were too fleet for their pursuers, and, after running a short distance, they would turn about deliberately and impudently face the officers.

Edward Ward, an Alabamian in Charlestown Mass., has departed for parts unknown. He carried on the lumber business in company with Thomas Greenleaf, under the name of Thomas Greenleaf & Co. Their wharf is located at the Neck on the Mystic river, and he has had the principal care of the business. It is thought that he has taken from $15,-000 to $20,000 with him, of money belonging to the firm and others, which will fall heavily on his partner. Before leaving he converted his dwelling house on Main street and other things into cash, leaving nothing which his creditors can get hold of.

[For the Louisville Bulletin.] "FALLEN TIDE."

BY ELLA FARMAN.

I stood upon the green slope by the sea And saw the sunny wild waves swiftly come— Rejoicing from the realms far miles from me— Come leaping to the rock as though 'twere home. I knew those waves had swept o'er pearls and gold— Their shapes seemed flashing 'mid the jeweled spray, Till, dreamly, I hoped the wand'rers bold Had borne some treasure from its care away.

I waited till the journeying waves had gone, But found no pearls—not even coral stems— Only the granite rock stretched bare and lone, No gayer for those guests who promised gems.

A heart stood on the shore of life's spring land, A-watching with her eyes of trust and truth, Whilefrom the future's mighty, dim-known land— That unreached hemisphere bequeathed to youth There swept up at her feet a flashing tide—

Hope's own broad waves-and 'mid them gravelly gleamed The ship in which that vent'rous heart might ride

But, when her sandal lightly touched the sea The bright wave fell and left her on the beach, And though still dimly near the barge tossed free, The tide still fell and bore it out of reach.

And never did it strand upon that shore,
Though still that Heart stood waiting by the brine,
It often neared—the tide fell evermore.—
Alas! to know that luckless Heart was mine! AUGUSTA CENTER, N. Y., 1857.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

There were over 7 feet water in the Indiana chute, and between 41/2 and 5 feet in the middle chute last evening. The weather is beautiful. All the large boats are up over the falls.

For St. Louis .- The Alvin Adams, Capt. Lamb, is the packet for St. Louis to-day. There is no finer or better boat in the trade than the Adams, and in speed she eclipses all. She starts from the city wharf.

The Statesman, Capt. Sullivan, is the packet for Henderson. She will start from the city wharf.

The Wm. Dickson, which was detained, will leave for the Tennessee river this evening. The Hickman will leave for the Arkansas river

The great steamer Jacob Strader, Capt. Summons, is the mailboat for Cincinnati to-day.

The R. J. Ward .- This magnificent steamer is oming up with a crowd of passengers. Capt. Miller telegraphed from Evansville last evening that he will arrive at 11 o'clock this morning, and ordered eighteen staterooms in the ladies' and four in the gentlemen's cabin on the mailboat to be secured for his passengers. The Ward will leave for New Orleans to-morrow evening. Steamer Arizonia Raised .- The accident to the teamer Arizonia at Rock Island bridge was not as serious as at first reported. She has been raised, and arrived at St. Louis on Wednesday, where she will be repaired.

Accident .- The steamer Rosalie, from Dunleith for St. Paul, was recently blown ashore on the rocks on the east bank of the Mississippi, just above Reed's Landing, and a hole stove in her starboard side. She managed to work on and reach her destination.

A new hull, built by the Howard's, of Jefferson ville, was launched day before yesterday, and is now lying at the city wharf. It is intended for a packet on the Upper Missouri, for Capt. Porter.

Yesterday evening about 6 o'clock, a drayman fell from his dray just in front of our office, and narrowly escaped being crushed by the wheels. He was very seriously injured.

The Journal of Commerce announces the failure in New York of Mr. Wm. G. Lord, flour and grain commission merchant, of that city.

A silver mine has been discovered in Cooss county, Alabama.

THE CORONER'S INQUEST .- Yesterday afternoon Dr. Bryan, the Coroner, concluded his investigation in relation to the death of the four negroes on the night of the 14th inst. No new facts were elicited although a large number of witnesses were exam ined. Hon. John Barbee, ex-Mayor, was foreman of the jury that conducted the examination. The following are the verdicts:

Inquests Nos. 31, 33, and 34.—George, slave of H. Samuels, Bill, slave of Pendleton, and Bill, slave of Brown, were strangled with a rope placed around their necks, in the yard of the court-house in Louisville, on the 14th inst, by a number of persons un-

32.-Jack, slave of L. Samuels, died by his own hands; that he severed the jugular veins

No. 35.—Joseph Roth, aged 20, came to his death from a blow inflicted with a rammer upon his head, fracturing the skull, by the hands of Lewis beal.

DISAPPEARANCE OF KIRBY .- We have refrained from mentioning the various rumors afloat concerning the disappearance of Mr. Joseph Kirby, the well known clerk of the steamer Republic. The following, from the New Albany Ledger, is doubtless

We have seen a gentleman who was in St. Louis a few days since. He informs us that he has no idea that Mr. Kirby has been murdered, or that he has committed suicide. He saw both Capt. Montal gomery and Mr. Kirby, and learned from both that there was a difficulty in the settlement of Mr. K.'s accounts—he being behind, according to Captain M., some $5,500. Captain Montgomery has the fullest confidence in Mr. Kirby's integrity, and believes that he will yet appear and make everything right.

Our informant thinks Kirby has concealed himself by advice of covered particless. by advice of counsel, until some arrangement in re-

The Cincinnati Commercial says: Mr. Samuel Gill, Superintendent of the Louisville and Frankfort and Frankfort and Lexington roads, is among the candidates for "Elijah's Mantle," on the Little Miama road. Mr. Gill is a graduate of the Little Miama road. Mr. Gill is a graduate of West Point, and an accomplished civil engineer. It is thought by the friends of Mr. Gill that the influence Southern and Eastern, which that gentleman could direct, favorable for the Little Miami line, mi at go far to overcome the disadvantage of being s ranger upon the road.

The Russelville Herald says: From all accounts, the wheat erop in Logan is very promising. The oats crop does not look so well, but is improving. Tobacco plants are plentiful, except in a few localities, but are unusually small; the prospect for a large and fine crop is anysmall; the prospect for a large and fine crop is anything but flattering.

Wm. F. Stephenson has been sentenced to the penitentiary for 25 years, for running off negroes in Marshall county, Mississippi.

A Notorious Thief .- The Cincinnati Commercial has the following account of Bill Edwards, an infamous character who was recently engaged in several robberies here:

He is now wanted in Louisville, Ky., where it is said he is certain to be convicted. When in the east, the last time, the police drove him out of several cities. His accomplice, Florence Williams, alias Florence Clark, has not been long with him. She is not as she assumed to be, when arrested, an educated woman, as, on the contrary, she can scarcely read, but she has respectable relatives at Harper's Ferry, Va., and at Louisville, Ky. She is petite, has been rather good looking, and has a full brow, dark eyes and hair, a sallow complexion, fluency of speech, and plenty of assurance. She left home and went to Baltimore to lead a life of infamy, became the mistress of a thief, drifted about a while, and went to Baltimore to lead a life of infamy, be-came the mistress of a thief, drifted about a while, and at Louisville fell in with Edwards, who became her chevalier and bringing her here, took her to his house to reside, while his wife lay in the last stages of consumption. The girl put on the airs of mis-tress of the place, and was about, with Edwards, to to strip the house and decamp, when, fortunately they were arrested.

Since being taken to jail, Edwards has had in his Since being taken to jail, Edwards has had in his possession several hundred dollars and living high, pays for the best board for his inamorata, while his dying wife would be destitute but for her relations. The brother of Florence, who is said to be a respectable man, wrote a few days since from Louisville to her, advising her if she knew anything to turn State's evidence, as Edwards was a notorious villain and would even betray her to save himself. This letter was opened, of course, by the officers of the jail, before being delivered. When Edwards found out the contents of the letter, he suggested the arrest of the brother on a charge of crime. The circumstances under which Edwards and this girl, dressed in men's apparel, were seen at night prowling about to effect apparel, were seen at night prowling about to effect burglaries, and the other circumstances showing their guilt, are already known to our readers. They are now under $2,000 bonds to await trial in June. and, unless previously liberated by straw bail or the important witnesses spirited away, will be almost certainly convicted. It is said that a notorious deal-er in stolen goods, who ran away from this city and is now in Louisville, and other accomplices of Ed-wards in robberies there, are to be compelled to get him out of the scrape here, or he will inform on them, as he can't escape here, and, impeaching others, may shorten his term of imprisonment.

MURDER AND LYNCHING IN ILLINOIS .- For a day MURDER AND LYNCHING IN ILLINOIS.—For a day or two past we have heard rumors of a borrible murder, and the subsequent lynching of the murderers, at Troy, Illinois. A German peddler, named Frederick Graftenich, who travels through Illinois, came to this city on Friday, and after disposing of his merchandise was returning home, his way lying through Troy. On reaching a creek near that place, he noticed three men apparently following him. He halted to water his horses, and they passed him, but helded or ton of the hill just beyond the creek. As through Troy. On reaching a creek near that place, he noticed three men apparently following him. He halted to water his horses, and they passed him, but halted on top of the hill just beyond the creek. As he started on and was just rising the hill, one of them seized the bridle of his horse, and demanded his money. He refused, when one of them raised a shot-gun and fired at him, lodging the whole charge in his body. Another shot him in the head with a pistol. Some travelers attracted by the noise came up, and the murderers fled. The peddler was still living and able to give an account of the affair, and to describe the perpetrators, He was taken to Troy, where he died on Saturday morning. By this time a large number of the inhabitants of that region had heard of the murder, and started in pursuit. They found them hid in the woods and arrested them, and lodged them in the Troy jail. During the day, great crowds of persons began to gather in the town, and a consultation being had, it was determined to execute summary justice upon them. A gallows was hastily erected, and the three men taken from the jail for execution. At this stage of the proceedings, the gentleman who brought the information, left the scene of action and returned to this city, and we have been unable to learn anything further of the scene of action and returned to this city, and we have been unable to learn anything further of the affair.—St. Louis Intel.

USURY.

The subject of usury, like, the banking and tariff questions, appears extremely intricate to those who have not studied it critically and well. To pursue the subject to a satisfactory solution, it is necessary to begin at the point of time when the condition of society first requires a legal standard of value; and from that point we must follow it through all its various ramifications, as hy such a process along. various ramifications, as, by such a process alone, I am satisfied, can we decide upon the merits of this various ramifications, as, by such a process alone, I am satisfied, can we decide upon the merits of this interesting question.

To proceed then, we will suppose a new country, isolated from all others, with a population of one bundred people, who have nothing. They discover a gold mine from which they extract two thousand dollars, which being of no possible use to them, as they can neither eat, drink, nor wear it, they send it to a foreign country by a ship which chances to touch at their shore, for which they get in exchange agricultural implements, seeds, building materials, tools, provisions, and so forth, by means of which the population can be set to work, making their bread, houses to live in, &c. The population being small, and the necessaries of life which they produce being but few in number, they can, of course, supply each other's wants by direct exchanges of the products of each other, and, as long as they can do this, and have no surplus, they have no need of a standard of value. In the progress of time, however, population increases, and in the fruition of their prosperity they produce not only many luxuries, but a surplus of the necessaries of life. Population and products becoming somewhat myltiplex, they can no longer conveniently make direct exchanges of their products, when, of course, the necessity of a standard of value becomes apparent. To show its necessity, we will suppose that A makes hats, B has money, C grows potatoes; A happens to To show its necessity, we will suppose that A makes hats, B has money, C grows potatoes; A happens to want potatoes, but C does not want a hat; B however wants a hat; accordingly A gives a hat to B for money, which he gives to C for potatoes. In this case, the same money changes the title to both the hat and potatoes.

ney, which he gives to C for potatoes. In this case, the same money changes the title to both the hat and potatoes.

To supply a standard of value, this community extract two thousand dollars more from their mine. About this time they have a surplus of a thousand bushels of wheat. Now the man who shall ship this wheat to a foreign country, where it can be exchanged for such necessaries or luxuries as this community cannot produce in their own country, is, of course, a public benefactor. But some one must buy before they can ship it. We will suppose that D and E each happen to hold five hundred dollars of the money, and D determines to buy and ship the wheat, which he can get for one dollar per bushel, but having only half enough money to buy it he proposes to E to loan him his five hundred dollars. E says well, I expected to invest in land or wheat to ship out of the country, but if you will give me at the rate of fifteen per cent, per annum till you get returns for your wheat I will loan it to you. Now, it is a well established principle that each member of society is dependent upon the whole, and that, therefore, all who produce a luxury or necessary of life, directly or indirectly, through the agency of money or by manual labor simply, is a good and useful citizen. In the borrowing and loaning of this money and the shipping of the wheat E, no less than D, has been instrumental in doing this very thing, and the principle which these acts involve applies to every case of usury which ever has or ever, will occur, and yet, if this country had been indiscrete enough to enact a usury law restraining interest to less than fifteen per cent., this loaning would have been usurious.

But let us see the effect of this transaction. Let rious.

But let us see the effect of this transaction. Let us see whether any one is injured by it, or whether it has a contrary effect. If E refuses to loan on account of the dangers of usury and D can borrow from no one else, the wheat must lie upon the fields and rot, for it is a surplus, and the country will thereby lose that which, in a foreign country, might have been received in exchange for it. In a legal point of view D stands in the attitude of a borrower and E in that of a lender, but in a moral point of view their relation is that of co-partners. D is the active and E the passive, or, in mercantile parlance, the silent partner. The active partner does the business on the capital of the silent, runs all the risk of loss, and gives only what is equal to 15 per cent. interest per annum, however large a profit he may realize. If the wheat does not realize cost, E simply has the advantage of D, and if it pays a profit far greater than the share that E gets, D has the advantage of E. Or, if E had loaned his money to D at 6 per cent. and D had made a loss, his loss would have been less by the difference between 6 and 15 per cent. Or, if he had made a profit it would have been greater by the same difference.

So far as the community at large is interested, But let us see the effect of this transaction. Let

So far as the community at large is interested, their $1,000 into active operation or whether one of them does it? The difference is certainly in favor of its being done by one of them. The effect of a usury law would be to deter E from loaning his money to D, without which he could from loaning his money to D, without which he could not make the surplus wheat available to the counnot make the surplus wheat available to the country by shipping it abroad. Some, however, may contend that there would be nothing gained by shipping the surplus, inasmuch as the price of that remaining in the country would thereby be raised. A rise would of course follow, but it would be merely nominal. If the price of wheat advanced from fifty cents to one dollar per bushel in consequence of shipping the surplus, the hatter would simply be obliged to advance the price of hats from four to eight dollars, and thus, in reality, wheat would cost him no more than it did before the rise took place, and hence, as I before said, the advance would be only nominal. Upon the other hand, however, the article for which the wheat, if shipped, might be article for which the wheat, if shipped, might be exchanged, would be lower in a corresponding degree, because the quantity would be as much increased as the wheat would be diminished.

Usury laws are, it seems to me, inconsistent with the best interests of the age in which we live. It is the best interests of the age in which we live. It is true that coin, in its conventional legal character of money, is not property, nor a representative of property, but a mere thing or means used in changing the title to property. It is simply the creation of law and does not fluctuate in value as property does, a dollar never being worth more nor less than a dollar. It is a standard or measure of value, by the mere nominal application of which the title to thousands of dollars' worth or property is changed every day. As for instance, A gives a farm which he considers worth twenty thousand dollars to B for a ship worth the same. In such a case, money cuts no fig.

worth the same. In such a case, money cuts no figure as property, yet it is important in defining the value of the farm and ship.

It is proper that the law should fix a rate of profit or interest to be charged for the use of money in the absence of a contract. The law fixes the price, the or interest to be charged for the use of money in the absence of a contract. The law fixes the price, the interest, or the profit to be charged for the use of a horse, or the charter of a ship, where there is no contract, and where the parties cannot agree. But when we consider money in its commercial aspect, that legal prerogative should cease. The law is not designed to interfere where parties can agree among themselves. Men resort to a legal measure of justice only when they disagree. In all such cases the law rightfully interposes, but where parties can make their own bargains in regard to the price of money, or anything else, the law transcends its legitimate functions where it intermeddles. To do so, is to destroy that individual free agency which should never be aggregated into the hands of the Legislature from an intelligent constituency. Because, men who have been educated in commerce, and in all the monetary relations of trade, are certainly as competent to understand their individual interests as law makers, who, generally, are not particularly well posted in the practical part of such matters. To say that individuals will contract for money, or anything else, at a higher price than their interest will warrant, is simply to say that the people are in-To say that individuals will contract for money, or anything else, at a higher price than their interest will warrant, is simply to say that the people are incapable of self-government. If they have not discretion enough to know what price it is their interest to give for money, they cannot be trusted to buy a horse or a barrel of flour.

Money has all the essential elements of property, being the product of labor, and as all persons are left free to invest their effects in money or other products of labor, they should also be left free to sell or loan either for the best price they can get in the market. free to invest their effects in money or other products of labor, they should also be left free to sell or loan either for the best price they can get in the market. The motive that stimulates A to invest in flour is precisely the same as that of B, who invests in money. By a short supply of flour in the market in proportion to the demand, at some future day, A expects to make a remunerating profit or interest on the money he invested; and so, under a like change in the money market, does B expect to make a profit on his investment. If there be anything immoral in the motive of B, there certainly is in that of A also. I will simply remark here, however, that there is nothing wrong in the motive of either, for it would not do for the flour merchant, upon a declining market, to say to the consumer, "My flour cost me eight dollars per barrel, and, although I know you can buy at $5, you ought to pay me $9." The consumer would very naturally reply, "Sympathy for you would be wasted, for I would in vain ask you to sell me flour at $9, though it cost you but $4, if the market price were $12."

Where is the difference, in a moral point of view, between leasing a house that cost $10,000 in cash, a year, for a profit or interest of $1,000?

Money, though not property, is its equivalent, and its use is either worth something or it is worth nothing. If there is any good reason why a man should not be allowed to charge for its use what he can command in the market, there is no good reason why he should be permitted to charge 6 per cent. If there be any good reason why the lender should be restrained from taking it at less. If there be any good reason why the borrower should also be the subject of the market. If a man chooses to borrow money at a rate that is called usurious, and thinks he can make himself richer by doing so, why should he not be allowed to borrow it?

Where is the difference whether a man, who has a note to pay to-morrow, and, not having the money, borrows it at fifty dollars usury, or puts his a note to pa

Where is the difference whether a man, who has a note to pay to-morrow, and, not having the money, borrows it at fifty dollars surry, or puts his property upon the market, and thus raises the money at a loss of fifty dollars?

If A buys an article on credit, and fails to realize in time to pay for it, I can see no reason why B should be compelled to loan him money at 6 per cent. (if he loans it at all) to save him from loss, or oenable him to make a profit, than the consumer, for the same reason, should be compelled to pay more for the article than its market value. MAIL ROBBERY .- The Morehouse (La.) Advocate of the 6th inst. mentions the discovery of a package of some forty letters, all broken open, concealed be tween the mattresses of a bed in the Bastrop postoffice. What number had been destroyed, or what amount of money had been abstracted, was not known. Five hundred dollars was known to have been taken; the same amount of postage stamps was also missing. The individuals concerned in the robbery were well known in Bastrop, but no attempt has been made to arrest them. The Advocate does not publish their names, but only complains of the postmaster for keeping such "pirates" about the office. A singular state of things in Bastrop post-of-

GREAT EXCITEMENT AT EDWARDSVILLE, ILL. We learn from the Alton Courier that great excitement prevailed at Edwardsville, in that county, on Monday, in consequence of a threatened attack upon the county jail. "Several hundred armed men had arrived from the eastern part of the county, with the determination of forcing the jail and taking thence and hanging, without trial, the three men committed on Wednesday last for the murder of a Mr. Baird, of Clinton county." The sheriff sent word to Alton for the military, and the National Guards left for the scene of the excitement on Mon-

The primary election by the American party for the choice of a candidate to represent Bourbon county in the next Legislature resulted in the nomination of Mr. Charles P. Talbott.

The Paris Citizen reports the death of George Northcutt in that town, from apoplexy. He fell, breaking his neck.

THE NEW ORLEANS AND JACKSON RAILROAD. Of the prospects of this road the Picayune says:

Mr. Robb has quietly succeeded in placing $600, 000 of the Jackson railroad mortgage bonds on fa vorable terms, the whole series having been taken in round lumps. Mr. Robb headed the list with a in round lumps. Mr. Robb headed the list w $100,000 subscription. The amount thus obt a junction with Canton by the 1st of February, and intersecting the Memphis and Charleston railroad on the 1st of April, 1859, thus furnishing a through communication to every point North, East, and West.

STILL LATER FROM MEXICO.—We learn from passengers by the steamer Major Barbour that the prisoners taken at Caborca, on the 6th inst., sixty-five in number, and among them Capt. Crabb, had all been shot, and that the Government was on the lookout for other parties of the filibuster band. These facts were obtained from official accounts received at the capital on the 5th inst.

The Vera Cruz papers at hand make no further mention of the difficulty with Spain other than to republish accounts already before our readers. republish accounts already before our readers. The Progresso, however, quotes a statement of the Heraldo that Gen. Almonte, the Mexican Minister to England, accompanied Gen. Lafragua to Paris, where he had a private interview with the Emperor Napoleon. The Emperor manifested a lively interest in the welfare of the Republic, offered his personal mediation between the two countries and exonal mediation between the two countries, and expressed the hope that they would come to some ami cable arrangement.

The struggle between the civil and ecclesiastical powers, which at one time threatened all the Republic had gained, seems for the moment suspended, if not closed forever. This happy result is attributed not only to the firm stand of the existing government but to its faithful and energetic support by a large portion of the clergy themselves. The reaclarge portion of the clergy themselves. The reactionary party evidently no longer indulge the hope of regaining power by force of arms, and, acquiescing in the new order of things which the Constituent Assembly have inaugurated, are wisely pre ferring to appeal to the ballot-box.—N. AN AMERICAN BOOK IN ENGLAND .- The following complimentary notice of a well known work by our learned and esteemed fellow-citizen, the Rev. Dr. Craik, is from the Literary Churchman, published in London and Oxford. It is the highest ecclesiastical authority in Great Britain:

Search of Truth: a Manual of Instruction concerning the Way of Salvation. By James Craik, Rector of Christ Church, Louisville, Ky. Philadelphia: Hooker. London: Low, Son, & Co.

This is one of the most philosophical treaties yet the state of the control of the issued by the American Church, and will doubtless do good service in that speculative country, where every theory that may be broached, however wild and unreal it may be, is sure to gain followers, and where many of the acutest intellects are ranged on the side of the enemy.

It consists of a series of chapters, of which the first four are on The Fact of Revelation; the Corrup-tion of Human Nature; some present Errors of Opinion in the world on the subject of a Divine Revelation, the Positive Philosophy. After combating various errors, Mr. Craik proceeds to show that the Bible and the Church present to all men a clear and well-defined path through all difficulties, in which path they may walk with comfort and assurance. The latter portion of the work is devoted to the statement of positive Christian doctrine. After stating the true view of the Holy Communion, he stating the true view of the Holy Communion, he thus sums up:

"It is a blessed and glorious truth that Christ in this Sacrament does by His Spirit impart Himself to His people, and give to them the saving might and purifying excellency of His Body and Blood. Because this is a spiritnal operation, it is none the less, but the more, real. No carnal union could be so perfect, or so enduring, as the spiritual union which is thus effected. How this miracle of grace is accomplished, how the Spirit acts here, as in all other instances of His ministration, faith asks not; but meekly receives the benefit, and humbly adores the meekly receives the benefit, and humbly adores the -God whose infinite bounty bestows this won

CAUSE OF THE COLD WEATHER-No Comet Ex CAUSE OF THE COLD WEATHER—No Comet Expected.—It is the general opinion among well-informed quidnuncs that the extremely cold spell of weather we are now enjoying is caused by the comet; and it becomes a rather alarming and interesting question if the weather is so cold before the comet comes within discernible distance of us, what the state of the thermometer will be when the comet whisks its tail over our planet. Professor Pierce, of Cambridge, in whose astronomical ability we have great confidence, has already informed us that he knows of no comet whose presence may be expect-Cambridge, in whose astronomical additional great confidence, has already informed us that he knows of no comet whose presence may be expected this summer, it is true, but there must be some good cause for such very exceptional, as well as exceptionable, weather as we have had since the "blooming month of May" came in. In the lamented absence of the public's old friend, E. M., from the daily papers, it may be suggested that the cold weather is caused by the great quantities of snow and ice which accumulated to the north of us during the past severe winter, and to the prevalence of winds from that quarter. But we may look for a change of temperature very soon.

Of Miss Heron's cough, in the dying scene of Camille, the Boston correspondent of the Detroit Advertiser says:

"Miss Heron still continues to inflict Camille upor "Miss Heron still continues to inflict Camille upon the Boston audience nightly. Camille should be a comedy. In the fifth act Armand Duval should arrive opportunely from America with a general assortment of cod-liver oil, Bourbon whisky, and Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and the entire denouement should be changed. That cough must be stopped. How easy would it be to bring the devoted heroine under the influence of timely and infallible specifics through the influence of Armand, who shall have turned pulmonary doctor for that purpose. Men and women dying by consumption are too common about Boston to make it an object for anybody to go and pay money to listen to a church-yard cough, or and pay money to listen to a church-yard cough, or to look upon a hectic cheek. The disease, dreadful as it is, is not idealized at all—it is simply frightful

A grave divine on Cape Cod, not long since, awoke from a comfortable nap in his chair and discovered his amiable helpmate in the performance of an act for which Gov. Marcy once made a charge of fifty cents to this State—in other words, mending his pantaloons. Inspired with a love of fun which seldom affected him, he inquired, "Why are you, my dear, like the evil adversary spoken of in Scripture?" Of course she was unable to discover any resemblance. "Because," said he, "while the husbandman slept you sowed the tares!"

STRICTURES of old or recent date effectually cured in a few days by an operation which causes no pain. Where a stricture exists, general derangement of the whole constitution must ensue, a continuance of which will bring on train of symptoms to be dreaded, and will undermine the constitution and cause premature old age.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.—Particular attention will be given to this disease and all the consequences growing out of it, brought on, in many cases, by the destructive habits of inconsiderate youth and excessive indulgence of the passions, which undermine the constitution, rendering the subject unfit for either business or society, and causing premature old age.

LOUISVILLE OBSERVATORY. HEREBY CERTIFY THAT I HAVE THIS DAY made a careful examination and adjustment of the fransit Instrument in possession of Messrs. Fletcher & Benett, of this city, and that the same may be relied upon to obtain accurate time.

Assistant Cincinnati Observatory.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 30, 1856.

This being the only Observatory in the West, except that at Cincinnati, using a Transit for taking daily observations of the heavenly bodies to obtain accurate time, and, being carefully adjusted to the meridian of Louisville, and ENTIRLY and EXCLUSIVELY under our own control, the public may rely upon the accuracy of our time to the TENTH part of a SECOND. All Watches entrusted to our care will be adjusted and regulated with the ereatest nicety.

MADAME LAGRANGE'S CONCERT. - The concerts last night was not as fully attended as the high reputation of the performers had led us to anticipate. Of the many celebrated artistes that have preceded Madame LaGrange, none have shown higher merits. Her voice is one of rare cultivation and great her voice is one of rare cultivation and great m-pass; and she controls it with as much skill as the most accomplished player controls his instrument. The variations, composed for the violin, and the La-Grange Polka were the most finished and artistic pieces we have ever heard from a yocalist, and elicited tremendous encores.

Madame Siedenburg has much improved since her former visit. She sings very sweetly, and so highly pleased was the audience with her Ave Maria that she had to repeat it.

Signors Taffanelli and Ceresa are both accomplished artists-the former a baritone and the latter a tenor of great power.

We are glad to be able to announce that Madame LaGrange and her talented troupe will give one more concert in this city. We trust that she will be greeted with an overflowing house.

VALUABLE PUBLICATIONS. - Paddock & Co., of Cincinnati, who issue a very valuable "Bank Mirror," have published a large pamphlet which is a sure criterion for the detection of counterfeit money. It is illustrated with specimens of the majority of spurious notes now in circulation, with such explanations as that those least experienced may easily detect a counterfeit bill. We regard this publication as of the very greatest value to our business men The same firm also publish a chart illustrating the different coins of the world with their value in our decimals attached. We would invite the special attention of per ons, especially ladies, in want of the richest and newest styles of fancy dress goods and the best brands of staple goods to the stock at the store of G. B. Tabb, corner Fourth and Market streets. At this house can be found styles of goods not to be found in any other house in the market, which in point of beauty and elegance cannot be excelled. Ladies visiting our city will find it greatly to their advantage to give this house a call and examine the various kinds of goods before making their purchases. His stock of silk and lace mantillas is the largest in the city, embracing a variety of new and desirable styles. His stock of silks, berege and grenadine robes, embroideries, and lace goods cannot be excelled by any Western house. He has also a large and well selected stock of cottonades, heavy cotton drills, plaid cottons, osnaburgs, &c., for servants. Call and examine the stock of this house before you make your purchases, and we feel sure in saying that you will be convinced that this is the house to buy good and cheap goods.

AN OLD SOLDIER'S EVIDENCE .- John Hammond, of Newport, Ky., a soldier of 1812, says he has suffered for seven years with Rheumatism and has never found anything to afford him as much relief as Porter's Oriental Life Liniment, and adds he would not be without it if it cost ten dollars probet-

tle. Four bottles of the genuine Oriental Life Liniment are sold at 96 Third street for one dollar, and each purchaser receives a free gift as soon as the purchase is made, worth from fifty cents to one hundred dollars. The gifts are new and desirable, and consist of fine gold and silver watches, gold pencils, ear-rings, breast-pins, finger-rings, pocketknives, work-boxes, &c. LATE-T NEWS.

THERMOMETER. 6 P. M. 12 P.M. 7 A. M. 49 74

The river is still rising slowly, with 7 feet water on the falls over the rocks and over 5 feet in the middle chute. Weather warm and clear.

The Ranbow,-This fleet steamer arrived about 8 o'clock, making the quickest trip of the season. Her time from port to port was only 5 days 131/2 hours. We thank Messrs. Huston for New Orleans papers of the 16th and a copy of the memorandum. The Rainbow had no freight. She returns to New Orleans to-morrow. She has fine accommodations and excellent officers.

The R. J. Ward .- This steamer reached Portland about 12 o'clock. She attempted to come up through the Indian chute bnt did not succeed. She then tried the middle chute and succeeded. The Ward was crowded with passengers. Her receipts must have been very large. Many of her passengers took passage on the Strader, which had awaited her arrival. Messrs. Smith and Grey, the clerks of the Ward, have our thanks for the usual favors. The Ward will leave for New Orleans on Monday

JEFFERSON CIRCUIT COURT-Criminal Term. May 22 .- The Court met this morning for the purpose of sentencing the prisoners convicted during the present term. The following persons were arraigned and sentenced in the most solemn manner by Judge Bullock: Edward Johnson, 3 years; Geo. Simpson alias Thompson, 4 years; Walter West, 2 years; John Clifton, 18 months; Daniel Barr, 1 year; John Mitchell, 4 years; Thomas Butler, 2 years; Fielding F. Thompson 3 years; Geo. Taylor, 1 year.

But one of the convicts made any remarks when the sentence was passed. This was Geo. Simpson. He said that he considered his punishment as very hard; that he had never intentionally wronged any one, and committed the crime for which he was convicted while laboring under intoxication. Judge Bullock expressed his regret at the unfortunate position in which the convict was placed; stated that he had manifested some conscientiousness in pleading guilty when on trial, but that he must necessarily suffer for one of the terrible and inevitable consequences of the crime of drunkenness.

The prisoners were then removed to the jail. They will be taken to Frankfort to-morrow.

Police Proceedings-Friday, May 22d. - The office of Interpreter of the City Court must have some very peculiar attractions aside from the $400 yearly stipend. There are now three claimants for the office. Constant Hartman was elected by the General Council a few weeks since, but Gen. Pilcher withholds a commission from him, as he says the office was created by the charter to be filled during good behavior. On this ground Capt. Conrad Shroeder, who was the Interpreter several years ago, now comes forward and claims the office. He says that he never resigned, and never was legally removed. In the meantime the present faithful incumbent of the post, Mr. J. G. Ruchstuhl, holds on to the place, with no particular pertinacity, but with the confident assurance that he is a rare anomaly in office holding-the right man in the right place. Mr. Shroeder has had a quo warranto writ served on Mayor Pilcher, and Mr. Hartman is about procuring a mandamus on the same high functionary. We shall have a crisis in municipal affairs very soon. Abandoned Women .- The prisoners' dock was entirely occupied by females of the lowest character. Not a single man was to be found yesterday who had offended the dignity of the Commonwealth.

streets yesterday. One month at the Cave.

Nancy Scott, May Scott, Mary Casseday, and Jane Briscoe were all holding a jubilee yesterday over the deliverance of Jane from the work-house. her time of service having expired yesterday. All sent out except Jane, and she promised to leave the State forthwith.

Ann Kaufman and Christina Holmes were sent out for one month. Theirs was the old offensedrunkenness.

Louisa Fischer sued out a peace warrant against Sarah Kettel. They both displayed violent and vicious tempers, and the warrant was dismissed.

ENGLAND AND AMERICA ON THE TURF,-We learn from Porter's Spirit of the Times that Lecompte, Prior, and Prioress, the three gallant coursers which were sent from this country last fall to confront the renowned champions of the English turf upon their own ground, and at their own terms, are entered for the Great Goodwood Cup! Gilpatrick, the great jockey, is engaged to go to England and take part in the contest. Two or three more American jockeys are to be sent over; so that all of the horses will be ridden according to the style of racing in this country, and agreeably to the manner in which they have been trained. This great trial of speed comes off on the 29th of July, and at the latest advices the American horses were in excellent condition. Under the conditions of this race considerable advantages are offered to the American horses. Lecompte will carry 124 pounds, Pryor 121 pounds, and Prioress 109 pounds; four pounds being allowed to Prioress as a mare. It will be seen, therefore, that Lecompte and Pryor will run at an advantage of 14 pounds less. On these items, therefore, our readers can begin to form their opinions and calculations.

F. Yeiser & Co., Fourth street, under the National Hotel, are now selling their rich and fashionable jewelry, fine watches, and diamonds at cost and 10 per cent. It is conceded by all that there has never been in the city a richer and more fashionable stock of jewelry than theirs; therefore purchasers will do well to examine their stock before buying elsewhere.

Reported for the Evening Bulletin.

PHILADELPHIA, May 22.

The New York Herald's Washington correspondent says: "Gov. Wright, of Indiana, I understand, is the person whom the Administration has selected for the Governorship of Utah. His friends say he will not accept. He is a candidate for a foreign appointment.

WASHINGTON, May 22.

Washington, May 22.

It is estimated that the troops now moving in the direction of Utah comprise about 2,000 men. There are two vacant federal judicial judgeships in the Territory, which will soon be filled, and probably another marshal appointed as preliminary to enforcing civil process, and, in the event of opposition on the part of the Mormons to this, the military will be employed to enforce the laws and protect the citizens of the United States from Mormon oppression. It is supposed, however, that no necessity for extreme measures will arise.

The Governorship of Utah is still unsettled. Although several gentlemen are solicitous for the position, the Government is anxious to select one who will combine personal bravery with administrative

REPORT ON SLAVERY IN THE UNITARIAN CON-FERENCE.—At the late session of the Unitarian conference in Alton, Ill., the following report was presented by Rev. J. H. Heywood of this city:

Women's rights, however, were in the ascendent. The frail sex monopolized all the whisky—did all the fighting—created all the disturbance, and furnished all the subjects for arrest.

One of them, Elizabeth Hall, apologised for, or rather plead in extenuation of her conduce, that she had been crazy for ten years and was subject to violent fits. As the work-house doctor is said to be great on fits, Elizabeth was handed over to his fit-ful practice.

Mary McLaughlin was stupidly drunk on the streets vectorday. One month at the Care. powerful spirit of piety and love of gratitude and humanity, born of the spirit of God, and which re-joices in rendering hearty obedience to the divine in-junction, "to do unto others, all others, as we would ve them do unto us.'

That as to prescribing a course of action for the churches here represented, the conference has no such power. It is not a presbytery or synod, it is not an association or consociation, invested with ecclesiastical power, but simply a conference; a meeting of members of congregational churches, which most scrupulously cherish the congregational independence; of brothers and sisters, of Christian friends, who come together as their hearts prompt, and with as little formality as possible, to confer together upon the great Christian interests which are inestimably dear to their souls, and by meditation, prayer, free interchange of thought and feeling to quicken their piety, to make clearer and more effectual their sense of duty, to increase their moral and churches here represented, the conference has no ual their sense of duty, to increase their moral and spiritual power, that they may return to their sever-al homes to work with earnestness and single-min-dedness, to do all within their ability in their respective spheres to Christianize society and make the kingdoms of this world in deed and truth, as well as in name, the kingdom of our Lord and his

This statement your committee respectfully submit to the conference for its adoption.

A discussion took place upon the acceptance and adoption of the report, in the course of which the Rev. Dr. Eliot, Judge Treat, Hon. Wayman Crow, and four or five other gentleman, members of the Church of the Messiah, in St. Louis, respectfully withdrew from the membership in the conference.

Various other matters of special interest to the conference were decided, and the conference adjourned on Saturday to meet next year at Cincin-

MONEY FOUND

THIS is to notify parties whom it may concern that information has this day been communicated to me making known the fact that, on the 18th day of April, 1857, a POCKET-BOOK was found in Montreal, Canada, containing several thousand dollars, and supposed to be the property of some American clitzen. The possessor of said money is desirous to restore it to the proper owner, and this notice is issued to attain that end.

THE MECHANIC FIRE COMPANY .- The gallant members of the Mechanic Fire Company leave on their grand Eastern tour on Sunday (we wish they had chosen some other day) by the mail-boat.

We may judge of their welcome in the East by the following from the Baltimore American:

the following from the Baltimore American:

Major McAllister, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangement of the Deptford Fire Company, yesterday received a letter from Louisville announcing that the expected visit from the Mechanic Fire Company of that city may be expected on or about Wednesday, the 27th inst. They will leave Louisville on the 24th, by steamboat for Ciacinnati, and thence will come direct through by railway. The company will number fifty fully equipped members, independent of the band, the members of which, fifteen in number, will also be equipped. The only apparatus they will bring with them will be their engine. A warm welcome may be expected by the engine. A warm welcome may be expected by the first Kentucky company that has visited our city, not only by the Deptford, whose special guests they will be, but by the whole Fire Department.

STOMACH OR LIVER.

STOMACH OR LIVER,
Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Deepondency, Coativenes, ellind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous, Rheumatic, and Neuralsic Affections, it has in numerous insances, proved highly beneficial, and in otherseffected a decided cure.
This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared onstrictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave. Because of its great success in most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here as d there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

its truly wonderful medicinal virtues mass to acade deged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in its effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

NOTICE.—Whoever expects to find this a beverage will be disappointed; but to the sick, weak, and low spirited it will prove a grateful aromatic cordial, possessed of singular remedial properties.

CAUTION.

The great popularity of this delightful Aroma has in-duced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything isle until you have given Boerhave's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations.

EVENING BULLETIN.

CELEBRATION OF THE FRENCH BENEVOLENT SO CIETY .- Yesterday the members of the French Mutual Assistance Society, a benevolent organization of the city, paraded through our streets and proceeded to New Albany, where, with some of their countrymen, they partook of a most elegant repast, such a one indeed as only the cuisine of our gay neighbors of La Belle France can afford. On the route of its march, the procession halted at the Mayor's office to pay the respects of the Society to His Honor Gen. Pilcher. Mr. Tenyon, the President, spoke in excellent terms, and was responded to on behalf of the Mayor in a very handsome manner by Mr. O. H. Strattan, Clerk of the Board of Alder-

MR. TENYON'S ADDRESS TO THE MAYOR. MR. MAYOR PILCHER: The French Mutual As-MR. MAYOR PILCHER: The French Mutual Assistance Society call to pay to you, as Mayor of Louisville, o'r respects and congratulations. We are Frenchmen by birth. We have adopted the United States for our country, and Louisville for our home. We are a society of fifty members, incorporated by the Legislature of Kentucky in Feb., 1854, for benevolent purposes, from funds contributed voluntarily by ourselves. Our intent is to relieve the wants of our own members in distress, to provide employment for destitute French immigrants, who come to join us in our adopted home, to relieve them employment for destitute French immigrants, who come to join us in our adopted home, to relieve them in sickness and keep them from becoming a charge on their adopted country and from falling into vice and crime by poverty and want. With these good intentions, and by fidelity to the Constitution and laws of the country, and, especially, by obedience to the laws of the city, we hope to meet your approbation, the good opinion of the people and the protection of the laws. We make our first public parade this day, and go to dine with our brethren in the city of New Albany, and trust that you, the authorities of Louisville, and the citizens, will believe in our good intentions and law-abiding purlieve in our good intentions and law-abiding pur-

MR. STRATTAN'S REPLY.

GENTLEMEN OF THE FRENCH MUTUAL ASSISTANCE SOCIETY: Owing to the Mayor's indisposition, he is necessarily deprived of the pleasure of this interview in person, but he has instructed me to return you his thanks for this friendly call upon him, and to remark that he has personally known some of you for many years. He is happy to testify to your good intentions as men and law-abiding purposes as members of this community. He receives your respects on this occasion not for himself alone but as a tribute to our people, their government and laws, and assures you that our municipal authorities will protect all peaceful and law-abiding people as laws, and assures you that our municipal authorities will protect all peaceful and law-abiding people as good ci-izens. He approves the benevolent intents and praiseworthy objects of your Society, and will commend it to the good opinion of the people, and yourselves, as honest men, to the protection of the constituted authorities of the city. Allow me to wish you a happy jubilee with your kind brethren of New Albany. May your good Society help to enlarge and perpetuate the social understanding already existing between the two sister cities.
